In Australia – The Citizenship Information Line provides recorded information and access to information officers. Telephone 131 880 Monday to Friday 8.30am – 4.30pm.

Outside Australia – The citizenship website provides the location, hours of operation and telephone numbers for offices of the Department of Immigration and Citizenship (the department) outside Australia.

Integrity of application

The department is committed to maintaining the integrity of the visa and citizenship programs. Please be aware that if you provide us with fraudulent documents or claims, this may result in processing delays and possibly your application being refused.

Step 1 – Eligibility

You may be eligible to become an Australian citizen again if you ceased being an Australian citizen:

- by acquiring the citizenship of another country before 4 April 2002, or
- by renouncing your Australian citizenship to retain or acquire another citizenship or avoid significant hardship, or
- by residing outside Australia for a continuous period of 7 years prior to 8 October 1958, or
- because as a child your parent or parents ceased to be Australian citizens.

Australian citizenship commences on the date the application is approved.

Note: If you have had your citizenship revoked you cannot apply to resume your citizenship. You may be eligible to apply for citizenship by conferral.

Children

Children under 16 years of age can be included on a responsible parent's application form. Applications by children under 16 years of age must be made by a legal guardian.

Step 2 – Original documents

You will need to provide the department with a range of documents to prove that you are who you say you are and to establish that you have not had any serious criminal convictions. These documents are called proof of identity and good character documents.

You will also need to provide additional documents to validate your application. These are called supporting documents.

Translations and certified copies

If your documents are not in English, you will need to provide official translations. In Australia, you must use translators accredited by the National Accreditation Authority of Translators and Interpreters. For more information, see www.naati.com.au

Copies of original documents must be attached to your application. These copies must be certified by a person with the appropriate authority. See Proof of identity declarations – list of professions on page 5 for people who may certify documents.

If you are outside Australia when applying, contact the Australian diplomatic mission in the country who issued the documents for advice on acceptable translators, and who can certify your original documents.

Proof of identity declaration

Applicants 16 years of age or over

As well as your proof of identity documents, you will need to provide a proof of identity declaration and an endorsed passport-sized photograph of yourself.

The proof of identity declaration must be completed and signed by an Australian citizen who:

- has known you for at least one year and belongs to a profession on the list on page 5, and
- is not related to you by birth or marriage, and
- is easy to contact by telephone during normal working hours.

The person who signs the declaration must also write on the back of your photograph the words: This is a true photograph of (your full name) and sign the back of the photograph using the same signature as on the declaration.

The photograph should be carefully attached to the front of the application form without obscuring the image, or you can place the photograph in a plastic sleeve or envelope and staple it to the form.

The photograph must be:

- no more than 6 months old
- a full-face view of your head and shoulders (untinted prescription glasses can be worn – a photograph that shows facial features only is acceptable if you wear a head covering for religious reasons)

- of good quality, in colour, against a plain, light coloured background (laser copies are not acceptable).

Note: If you are outside Australia when applying you can have the proof of identity declaration completed by a citizen of your country of residence who has known you for at least one year and belongs to a profession on the list on page 5.

Children

A proof of identity declaration and endorsed photograph are required if you are an applicant under 16 years of age, or for each child under 16 years of age you are including in your application.

If you have more children that the space on the application form allows, please use form 1195 Proof of identity declaration for each child.

The declaration and photograph should be signed by an Australian citizen who has known your child for at least one year and belongs to a profession on the list on page 5.

In the case of children under 6 years of age, if no Australian citizen has known them for one year, then the declaration can be signed by someone who has known them for less than one year and belongs to a profession on the list on page 5.

The photograph of each child should be individually attached to the front of the application form without obscuring the image, or you can place the photographs in a plastic sleeve or envelope and staple it to the form.

Good character

If you are 18 years of age or over, you will need to show that you are of good character.

You must tell the department about any convictions you may have had in Australia or overseas. A conviction is a criminal charge leading to a guilty verdict in a court of law resulting in imprisonment, a fine or good behaviour bond. A traffic infringement, such as an on-the-spot speeding or parking fine, is not considered a conviction.

Spent convictions

You must declare spent convictions in your application.

The spent convictions law allows people with minor convictions to disregard those convictions after a certain period of time. A conviction may be considered spent if:

- it is 10 years since the date of the conviction (or 5 years for juvenile offenders), and
- the person was not sentenced to imprisonment for more than 30 months, and
- the person has not re-offended during the 10 years (or 5 years for juveniles) period, and
- a statutory or prescribed exclusion does not apply.

The department is allowed to ask you for this information for the purpose of assessing your application.

Overseas penal clearance certificates

Overseas penal clearance certificates, or police checks as they are known in some countries, show whether a person has a criminal record.

You may need to supply an overseas penal clearance certificate as part of your documentation if you are 18 years of age or over.

When to provide overseas penal clearance certificates

Penal clearance certificates from overseas countries are required if, in the last 10 years:

- you lived or travelled overseas and were aged 18 years or over, and
- the total time spent overseas added up to 12 months or more, and
- the time spent in any one country was more than 90 days, or
- if requested by the department.

You will need overseas penal clearance certificates from each country where you spent more than 90 days.

If you are outside Australia when applying, Australia should be considered an overseas country. You will need to complete the National Police Check Application Form, which is available from the Australian Federal Police website www.afp.gov.au
